

THE ANGLICAN SCHOOL GOOGONG

Planning is well underway for the first school in the new township of Googong NSW. The Canberra-Goulburn Diocese of the Anglican Church has a 5.3 hectare site for the school scheduled to open in 2015.

The plan is for a Primary and Secondary co-educational school with a projected full enrolment of 1,100 students drawn from both Googong and the wider area. The estimated (2013) annual school fee range is likely to be from $5500 for Junior Primary up to $11,000 for Year 12.

To help our planning, we need a better appreciation of likely future enrolments.

We are therefore seeking information from you as prospective parents of students for the school. Your answers to this survey will greatly help us develop the school and integrate it into the Googong and wider communities.

If you would like your children to attend The Anglican School Googong, please indicate below what school-year level in what year you would be interested in enrolling them. If you have already lodged an expression of interest in enrolment through the Googong website, there is no need to complete this form.

We anticipate opening the formal enrolment process in September 2013.
